SPEER WITHDRAWN.

TECHNICALITIES IN THE WAY OF THE CONFIRMATION.

Mr. Spect's Position as Congressman Makes Him Ineligible to Appear Before the Senate for Coustrmation — But His Name Can Bs Considered Another Day.

Washington, February 23.—Hon, Emory Speer's nomination to be district attorney will the question has been raised, it has been desession, the nomination will be renewed. It the senate is not in session, either the presi-dent or Sustice Woods will appoint Mr. Speer ad interim, and he will be confirmed at the December session. Senator Brown still thinks a confirmation now would be valid, but to re-move all possible difficulty the course indi-cated will be pursued.

The Senate Finds Itself Without a Quorum and Adjourns.

Washington, February 23.—Mr. Dawes submitted the conference report on the Indian appropriation bill. Mr. Call inquired what had become in the conference of the provision for the relief of the Seminoles in Florida. Mr. Dawes said the senate conferees had been compelled to give it up in order to secure an agreement on the bill. Mr. Call protested on behalf of the people of Florida and of the Seminole Indians in that state against the refusal of congress, year after year, to do them fusal of congress, year after year, to do them simple justice. The conference report was agreed to.

Mr. Anthony, from the committee on naval affairs, offered an amendment appropriating $200,000 to enable the secretary of the navy to build an experimental gunboat.

Mr. McPherson, discussing this amendment, attacked the secretary of the navy whom he attacked the secretary of the navy, whom he described as one at home in the lobby. The president, he said, had headed the list of his president, he said, had headed the list of his advisors with character and ability, the purest and the best, but even before reaching the end of the list had descended by one gigantic stride to the lobby with all that that implied. The amendment was ruled out on a point of order. The third section of the bill, authorizing the secretary of the navy to appraise, and if he thinks proper, sell vessels which have been estruck from the navy register, was ruled out on a point of order as containing new legislation, and the bill was then passed. The District of Columbia's appropriation bill was then passed. The District of Columbia's appropriation bill was then passed. The Legislative expectitive and jedicial appropriation bill, and Mr. Allison gave motice that he would call it up and ask the senate to dispose of it to-morrow. The committee have amended the bill by striking out that provision which contemplated the consolidation of the interest revenue collection.

ion which contemplated the consolidation of the internal revenue collection districts and the reduction of the aggregate number from 126 to 82, and also the provision requiring eight hours labor in the departments. The committee have increased the amount of the bill as it passed the house by $216,129.

The viral bill. The senate then took up the Utah bill. Mr. Ingalls moved to amend section 7 of the bill so as to prohibit the voting by women in any territory of the United States. After discussion a vote was taken, develop present. On motion of Mr. Edmunds, the sergeant-at-arms was instructed to request the immediate attendance of the absent senators. At a little before 8 o'clock the sergeant-at-arms made a report in regard to the absen-tees. The roll was again called, and thirty-twosenators answered. Mr. Edmunds offered an order, naming the senators absent without leave, and directing the sergeant-at-arms to bring them in. From this hour till 10 o'clock the time of the senate was consumed in roll calls on motions to adjourn and to lay the order on the table. Finally, on motion of Mr. Edmunds, the senate adjourned.

THE SUNDRY BILL.

The House Passes the Day on the Triflers' Appro printion Bill.

Washington, February 23.—In the house-Mr. Robeson, of New Jersey, called up as a privileged question consideration of the Pound rule reported yesterday from the com-mittee or rules. The rule was adopted. mittee on rules. The rule was adopted. It sets apart one hour in each day for the con-sideration of any measure called up by the committee to which there shall not be five objections. The house at 11:40 went into committee of the whole on the sundry civil appropriation bill. The clause relative to the Yellowstone national park having been reached, Mr. McCock, of Kentucky, moved to strike out the proviso authorizing the secretary of the interior to lease portions of the park under certain reauthorizing the secretary of the interior to lease portions of the park under certain restrictions, and to insert in lieu thereof a proviso prohibiting the secretary of the interior from leasing any portion of the Yellowstone national park to any person, company or corporation, for any purpose whatever, declaring of no force or effect any lease, agreement, exclusive privilege or monopoly already granted or entered into; authorizing the secretary of war to make the necessary details of troops to prevent trespassers and in details of troops to prevent trespassers and in truders entering the park with the object of truders entering the park with the object of obstructing game therein, or any other purphe prohibited by law. The amendment was adopted. On motion of Mr. Smalls, of South Carolina, an amendment was adopted appropriating $50,000 for the purchase of a site for a coaling dock and a navalstore house at Port Royal. South Carolina. An amendment was adopted limiting the compensation of clerks in the supreme court of the United States to five thousand dollars, and regulating the fees of that court. An item of five thousand dollars to the family of Andrew J. Herron late member of congress from drew J. Herron, late member of congress from Louisiana, was added to the appropriation or the families of deceased members. committee rose and reported the bill to the house. It being rumored that the friends of the "bonded spirits" bill had organized their forces for an attempt to call up that measure at the night session, the house, on motion of Mr. Hiscock, and without passing the sundry civil bill, at 5:20 adjourned.

a notary and swear to it. Witness was completely crushed. After copying the paper and swearing to it, he took it to Dorsey's room the next day. Besler was there. Dorsey had the paper directed. Witness wrote in it the word "statement." Dorsey then wrote in the words "and others." Dorsey struck a match, and burned the pencil drafs of the affidavit. Witness was then examined relative to the interview with Inspector Woodward in which he told him that Dorsey gave J. N. Taynor 2,000 shares of mining stock, and W.H.Turner 1,500 or 2,000 shares of the same to influence his official action.

the question has been raised, it has been determined to withdraw Mr. Speer's name, and after the 4th of March, if the senate is still in session, the nomination will be renewed. If the senate Is not in session, either the president or Sustice Woods will appoint Mr. Speer ad interim, and he will be confirmed at the December session. Senator Brown still thinks December session. Senator Brown still thinks a confirmation now would be valid, but to remove all possible difficulty the course indicated will be pursued.

F, H, R,

THE UTAH BILL.

The brown still thinks a confirmation now would be valid, but to remove all possible difficulty the course indicated will be pursued. It was for the reason he wanted to go into this memorandum to show it was made entirely by the witness. He used a pencil because it was easier thus to imitate the handwriting and show that no payments such has the public mind was such that it was absoluted to provide the public mind was such that it was absoluted to provide the public mind was such that it was absoluted to provide the public pu such as had been sworn to by the witness had ever been made to Belford, or to Tyner, or to Turner. He wanted to show that they could not have been made by Dorsey. These statements of the witness had been put in the associated press dispatches and read by millions of people. He thought it only fair that he be allowed to probe the matter to the bottom and to put the witnesses on the stand to tell the truth.

> Mr. Merrick said that if they attempted to stop the proceedings to go inside questions of this kind, the trial would never end. Turning to the defense he declared emphatisation. Turning to the defense he declared emphatically that if they wished to vindicate these gentlemen, they should produce the books. Mr. Davidge argued in favor of going into the subject of the memorandum. The court said the paper had not been mentioned during the examination in chief, and therefore could not be touched on a cross-examination. They could test the witness' memory on the subject, but were bound to accept his answers as final in the affidavit made in June, 1880. Witness stated that the memorandum was in stated that the memorandum was in his handwriting. Mr. Ingersoll interrupted and read the record in support of his assertion that the witness had declared the memoranthat the witness had declared the memoran-dum to be in Dorsey's handwriting, therefore he demanded the privilege of cross examining him upon the subject. The court said it was the purpose of cross examinition to show that the memorandum had been written by wit-ness. The affidavit of June, 1881, was read, when Reirdell says he has learned to imitate Dorsey's handwriting and signature, so like when Reirdell says he has learned to imitate Dorsey's handwriting and signature so like his own that he (Dorsey) could not tell it from his own. The court then read from Reirdell's testion of his court then read from his singular testion of his least the his work of his court the his least testion of his land of his land work of his land of his land work of his land of his land work of his land of

A PASS BETWEEN COUNSEL AND WITNESS.

Mr. Ingersell sharply arraigned the witness for his failure to state the fact during his recital of the incidents of that conversation The witness was required to again relate the conversations at Willard's hotel. He de manded Ingersoll to put his questions in a simpler form. That gentleman, striking the table, said forcibly: "You must not dictate to me. I have treated you with the utmost the court said the question must be answered and the witness proceeded accordingly. Mr Ingersollmade sharpcross examination on the subject of the balance sheets. The witness said he told Dorsey that he had them, but did not know when he told him. Dorsey certainly knew of their existence, because it had appeared in the evidence given in the police

Washington, February 23,—President Haygood, of Emory college, is here. He came by special invitation to address the general meeting of state school superintendents now in session in Washington. Last night he delivered his address on National Aid to Education and made the impression his sound. cation and made the impression his sound sense, liberal views and original thoughts cannot fail to make anywhere. He has received marked attentions at the hands of the Georgia delegation. Mr. Blount showed him the inside workings of the house this morning, and in the afternoon he was lunched by Senator Brown. The doctor will go to Mount Vernon to-morrow, and Sunday will preach to the students of the university of Virginia by request of boys and faculty. The doctor is well known in the north, and is one of the leaders toward a mutual understand ing of the sections.

Special to The Constitution.
SAN FRANCISCO, February 23.—Mail advices San Francisco, February 23.—Mail advices from Yokohama to February 6th announce that official communications from China of a very threatening character are believed to have been received by the Japanese government relating to Corea and Loo Choo island. Although the dispatches are kept secret their existence and hostile character are not denied by those who should possess the fullest information. It is stated in some high quarters mation. It is stated in some high quarters that the American acceptance of the Corean treaty will probably prove a most important obstacle to the warlike demonstrations from China, because that treaty places us in the same position as Japan with respect to the recognition of Corean independence, which is a point of Chinese contention.

Washington, February 23.—In the star route trial, Reirdell's cross-examination was resumed to-day. He said that at Dorsey's request he went to Dorsey's room at Willard's: Dorsey locked the door, and speaking of the witness going over to the government, told him that he had him in his grasp, and intended to hold him there. He could send him to pontentiary ror perjury. He told him had written out a statement which he, Dorsey, wanted him to copy, take it to

How Steel is Protected, Sham Industries Nursed Monopolies Sustained and Jobs Covered-How the Bill Will Operate if Passed, and How it Palls Short of What is Wanted.

Washington, February 23,-It now seen Speer's nomination to be district attorney will be withdrawn for technical reasons. The law is that no member of congress can fill any office which has been created during his term of service as congressman. Georgia was divided into two judicial districts while Mr. Speer was in the house. This difficulty occurred to him before his name was sent in. He consulted Senators Brown and Edmunds on it, and both declared that they saw no legal difficulty in the way of his confirmation. Accordingly the president made the nomination. Since the question has been raised, it has been determined by the witness on the same to finitely at this sersion with the senate bill as its basis. The impression has grown strong of late that the republicans did not want any bill passed. Correspondingly has grown among the demonstration. Witness had stated that a check for $2,000 had been given to Belford and the amount charged to "mail." Now the fact was that Dorsey had in his possession a peculiar kind of rifle. Belford saw it and wanted one. Dorsey procured one for him, and in payment drew a check for $20.00 him and the district ha probable that some tariff bill will be passed According to his pet plan, the burdened country was to be relieved by reducing the revenues of the government and increasing the gains of the monopolies that wring millions from the people every year under the present system of discrimination.

SENATOR BROWN'S PROVISIONS.

Senator Brown did most efficient service in the senate when the tariff bill was receiving its finishing touches by proclaiming and boldly advocating the doctrine that luxuries should bear the brunt of the imposts, He succeeded in raising the duties on champagnes and the other imported wines. On gold watches, by his amendment, a heavier tax was laid. The senator has been very bold-in every stand he took on the tariff. The other night he proposed to reduce the internal night he proposed to reduce the internal revenue tax on whisky to fifty cents a gallon, and on a call of the senate he voted for the motion while thirty-five senators voted no. A SUPPER TABLE INCIDENT.

A SUPPER TABLE INCIDENT.

A few minutes later I happened to be at the supper table at the Metropolitan hotel, with Mrs. Brown, when Senator Hampton entered and in a jovial spirit related how the senate had unanimously refused to agree with Senator Brown. Mrs. Brown instantly replied, "Well, I am glad he had the courage to vote right," According to Senator Brown's view the reduction of the tax on whisky would reduce the bulk of its manufacture. At present it is controlled by an enormous ring, whose great distilleries pour out their supplies until they accumulate a surplus of 84,000,000 gallons, on which they are now asking an extension of two years to pay the tax. One strong circumstance in favor of his views is that every senator who championed the bonded extension bill is dead against any reduction of the internal revenue on whisky. Its manufacture, I understand, is controlled by a hig ring which would go to on whisky. Its manufacture, I understand, is controlled by a big ring which would go to pieces were a lighter tax to open the gate to more general competition.

HOW THE BILL STANDS IN THE HOUSE, Evidently 'many representatives in the house mean to oppose the passage of the senare bill without sending it to a committee of conference to be doctored up to a higher protectionist grade. The friends of the bill, in its present shape, will oppose such reference, as will many democrats who have found out how mean a bill can be arranged in a committee. Samuel Randall may move the adop tion of senate bill to throw on the representatives the responsibility of no legislation A BARREN CAUCUS.

Washington, February 23.—The caucus of republican senators, which adjourned yesterday with the understanding that its unfinished business should be disposed of this morning, failed to realize the expectation, mainly for the reason that only six or eight senators put in an appearance. The apparent apathy is explained in two ways—either as a result of a coincidence of sentiment on the part of twenty-five gentlemen each of whom part of twenty-five gentlemen, each of whom supposed his absence would not seriously affect the general aetendance, or, as one senator frankly suggests, because the reports in the morning papers of the caucus at the other end of the capitol last evening engendered a temporary feeling of indifference.

SUBJECTS OF THE TARIFF BILL. The Senate's Bill as It Reached the House-Its Sallent

Washington, February 24.—It has been difficult to get at the points of the senate tariff bill. The following is a very full synopsis of the tariff portion: Schedule A—Chemicals were reduced, by the tariff commission from 25 to 30 per cent on existing rates. changes made by the senate have been in the direction of a further reduction. Phosphates and fertilizers have been placed upon the free list. Reductions have been made upon nearly list. Reductions have been made upon nearly all drugs and dyes. The only exception is the increase made upon the extract of sumac, to satisfy the Virginia sumac industry. The exceptional increase in this schedule are the restoration of lead products, zinc and spelter to the old rates. The rest of the chemical schedule was reduced. Bichrotected. mate of potash was reduced to three cents, and aniline dyes to thirty-five per cent ad valorem. This change is important to dyers and cotton manufacturers. A large number of chemicals now dutiable are placed on the free list by the tariff commission, and this number was considerably increased by the senate. There was, however, an increase, of the duty on saltpetre of half a cent a Schedule B. Earthenware and Glassware The rates remain practically as reported by the finance committee, with the exception that common window glass was reduced ! cent a pound. The rates of the committee were about 5 per cent less than the rates re ported by the tariff commission, and were in-tended to be equivalent to the present rates. The tariff commission increased them on account of the abolition of the duties on packages and inland transportation. The tariff commission's increase is 15 per cent ad valo-rem. The senate reduced this to 10 per cent and abolished charges and inland transporta-tion, which the committee claim will make the rate of duty about five per cent less than the existing law, the reduction being entirely on the effect of the abolition of the duty or packages and inland transportation.

Wire, steel and iron is reduced on an average of % of a cent per pound. The rates on all steel below 5 cents per pound in value, is fixed at 40 per cent ad valorem. This is an advance of 10 per cent on Bessemer blooms, advance of 10 per cent on Bessemer blooms, and on all the lower grades of steel, which under the present law are admitted as "steel not otherwise provided for."

This statement of the increase, however, requires explanation. The treasury department has assessed forty-five per cent on this class of steel, as "manufacturers of steel not otherwise provided for." The United States circuit court in New York has decided that this steel must come in simply as steel not this steel must come in simply as steel not otherwise provided for, at thirty per cent ad-valorem. The increase of 10 per cent, therefore, in the senate bill, is a otherwise provided for, at thirty per cent advalorem. The increase of 10 per cent, therefore, in the senate bill, is a reduction of five per cent on the practice of the treasury, but an increase of five per cent over what the United States court says the law is. There is no doubt that the decision of the circuit court will be affirmed by the United States supreme court, so, that realize United States supreme court, so that really this is a practical increase over existing law; the present rate being 2½ cents per pound on all enumerated steel valued at less than seven cents per pound. The rates on steel above

There is a general reduction upon all articles, excepting fine hosiery cotton, laces, embroideries, lace window curtains, insertings and cotton velvet. These articles are all increased from thirty-five to forty per cent. ad volorem.

Schedule K, Woolens—The clothing and combing wools are reduced about ten cents on wool below thirty cents in value, and twelve cents on wools above thirty cents. Carpet wools are reduced one-sixth of the amount of the duties; from three cents to two and one-half cents for wools below twelve cents in value, and from six to five cents for wools above the specific duty. all manufactures of woolen is reduced on an average to thirty-five per cent ad valorem. The reduction on carpets is at least thirty-five per cent on the present rates.

Schedula Silks—The rates are reduced to fifty per cent ad valorem from sixty per cent, the existing rates.

Schedule M, Books—Are reduced from twenty-five to fifteen per cent ad valorem. Books in a foreign language are put on the free list. Blank books and paper are reduced to twenty per cent ad valorem.

Schedule N. Sundries—The reductions generally average twenty-five per cent. Coal was put at seventy-five cents per ton, the existing rate. Salt is reduced twenty per cent below the present rates, with a proviso that salt used in packing meats and fish shall be free, and the duty shall be remitted on salt used for curing purposes. This makes salt almost free except table salt. The rate on hats and bonnets is reduced about 33% per cent. hats and bonnets is reduced about 33 1/2 per

A PRISON MUTINY.

Special to The Constitution. St. Louis, February 23.—A telegram to the Post-Dispatch from Jefferson City says: "The convicts in the penitentiary had just returned to their shops from dinner to-day when a preconcerted mutiny broke out in the harness shop of Jacob Strauss & Co. Four convicts seized Van Horn, the foreman of the collar shop, and told him to remain quiet. Four other convicts seized Snider, foreman of the harness shop, and stripped him of his clothes. John B. Johnson, the ringleader, is a highway robber serving a sentence of twelve years. He ran into the department where the horse collars are stuffed and set a lot of loose straw on fire. In a moment the building, with its three shops, harness, collar and whip, was on fire. Great confusion ensued. on fire. Great confusion ensued. The guards ran in with the hose, and were met by the convicts, who cut the hose. The ringleader, Johnson, then made an effort to escape over the walls, but despite the fact he had a knife and club, he was captured and put in the dungeon. His seven companions were also confined in dark cells. The fire was got under control, but not until the following shops were completely destroyed: lowing shops were completely destroyed: Strauss & Co.'s harness shop, collar shop and whip factory, loss $100,000; Grenck's boot shoe shop, $90,000; Misenburg's shoe shop, $30,000; state weaving and machine shop, $40,000; and the Excelsior loom factory, $20,000. The total loss, with damage to minor state buildings, will reach $300,000.

OTTAWA, February 22.—Two weeks ago a gentleman claiming to be Lord Cantyre, son of the Rev. Canon Allen, of Somersetshire, England, arrived in the town of Perth. So ciety went into ecstacies over the y young lady—an heiress, in possession of a for-tune of $250,000—willing to accept his atten-tions. While crossing the Atlantic he had been introduced to the lady, who was then returning from Germany, where she had been attending school. He was introduced to her guardian, whose house was thrown open to him. Everything went smoothly for a time, but the pseudo lord had laid claim to titles but the pseudo lord had laid claim to titles which Burke's peerage had failed to record. He also claimed to be a novelist, who had written under the non de plume of "James Proposals of marriage were made and were accepted by the young lady, and it was only through inquiries made by her guardian of friends in England as to the identity of the young lord that the fact of his being a most successful impostor was revealed. In concluding his remarks, Mr. Parnell declared that the present officials in Ireland were manifestly unfit to administer the crimes act. Mr. Forster ought to return to his original work. Mr. Parnell said he was hopeful that Ireland would weather this as she had weathered other formidable oppressions. He spoke for 35 minutes. 35 minutes. Mr. Justin McCarthy, member for Longford

THE PRINCE OF WALES A LISTENER.

The Prince of Wales, was present in the gal-lery the whole'time that Parnell was delivering his speech. Mr. Trenelyan, chief secretary for Ireland, in reply to Mr. Parnell, proceeded to vindicate the policy of the government in Ire-land. Since the present government there had been a commissioner to suppress crime. The number of murders had been reduced from three monthly to one in the last four and a half months. The only policy for Ireland was to say exactly what the government meant to do, and then do it. He regretted that Mr. Parnell had not made his position clearer. Mr. Gorst's amendment, in reply to the speech from the throne, was distasteful to Earl Spencer, lord lieutenant of Ireland, and to himself, and would, if carried, lead to their resignations, as well as to the resigna-tion of the cabinet. He thought that nothing would be more fatal to Ireland than to hand the responsibility of its government to local bodies Mr. Trevelyan said that if the government were convinced that the life of any official or private person had been pointed at by the inciting language of the press, they would act again.

During Mr. Parnell's speech Mr. O'Shea, member for Clare, exclaimed that Boynton, Egan and Davitt were mentioned to Forster. As a proof that the prisoners charged with Phoenix park murders were not members of the land league, Mr. Parnell pointed out during his speech that one of them had returned a check which had been sent to him from the sustentiation fund act again. one of them had returned a caeck which had been sent to him from the sustentation fund, saying that he had nothing to do with the league. Mr. Parnell has telegraphed to Mr. Sexton, requesting him to come to London to participate in the debate in the house of commons. Mr. Trevelyan said the government record. would not press the present proceeding against John O'Brien, whose sentence to imprisonment for using intimidating language against landlords was confirmed recently, and who was arrested to undergo nis punishment.

THE GOVERNMENT SUSTAINED.

Sir Stafford Northcole said he would be corry to weaken or harrass the government, sorry to weaken or harrass the government, but even if the result be to cause them to resign, it would be better that that should happen than that the country, relying on a false security, should be led back to the ministerial policy of the past. Mr. Chamberlain declared that as long as Mr. Forster remained in the cabinet he was loyally supported by his colleagues, and there was no unworthy intrigue againt him. Mr. Gorst's amendment was rejected, 259 to 176. The Parnellites abstained from voting. McCoan and Blake, Irish home rulers, voted with the majority.

Mr. Forsier exclaimed: "They were not mentioned to me."

Mr. Parnell continued. He had been challenged to defend himself, but he had nothing to defend himself from. He occupied a better position in the eyes of the Irish than Mr. Forster did in England.

Mr. Parnell also analyzed the evidence of Carey at the hearing of the Irish prisoners in Dublin, which he said was not a statement of fact but of belief or hearsay. It had been already disproved as recert Mr. I did not see those children, or Neal or Ellis that night. I am as innocent as the angels of that thing. You are all standing round me, and looking at me. I was better raised and had more respect for the people about me. I respected Mrs. Gibbons and her children. I am glad I can stand here and say I am innocent. It is the truth. If every body to-day as clear of the charge as I am, Mrs. Gibbons would have her children with her. It would not take the state guards to keep order here. I know it is a put up job her. THE BRITISH TRADE CENTERS

LIVERPOOL, February 23.—The leading weekly grain Circular says: Grain has been quieter but firm. Rates are generally upheld. In some instances native wheat, owing to scarcity, is a shilling dearer. Cargoes were slightly neglected and rather cheaper. At to-day's market wheat was in small demand, and fell one penny. Flour was inactive at unchanged prices. In corn there was retail business in mixed American at a reduction of one penny.

LONDON, February 23.—In Mincing Lane markets sugar has been dull. There was more business in refined scoffee. There has been business in reined goodee. There has been good demand for plantation Ceylon; low middling sold at 86 shillings. Rice has been in good demand for Burmah. Cargoes of tea have been quiet. Some cargoes sold at irreg-

Rabid Dogs. From the Washington, Ga., Gazette.

A great many dogs in this county have recently had what appeared to be rables. They have acted very peculiarly, have refused to eat and run about from place to place, biting other animals with apparently no object in view, and not one has recovered, nearly all view, and not one has recovered, nearly all dying in a day or two. One at Mallorysville bit a bog and the hog died from fits, and not from the wound, for it was not badly bitten. One at Mr. Pharr's, in town, died of the disease. He would whirl around continually for some time before it died. One at Mr. Simpson's was so furious that he was kept fastened. He foamed at the mouth and would oite the ground and every other object within his reach. He finally died No person has been bitten by any of these dogs. It is not at all certain these dogs were rabid, for we remember that in the past few years several persons in this county have been bitten by what they thought were mad dogs, but no bad results came from the bites, and we home d results came from the bites, and we hope the disease is some other than rabies.

THE GEORGIA MELON.

ous less for the Summer Season-The Success of the Truck Region. From the Albany Advertiser.

A few farmers in Brooks and Lowndes counties, along the line of the Savannah, Florida and Western railway, were the first in the state to engage in the caltivation of melons for shipment to the northern markets. We find that all of these have made money, and that they are gradually increasing their acreage in melons every year. Mr. W. R. Talley, of Brooks county, shipped the first melons ever grown along the line of the Savannah, Florida and Western railway for distant markets. At first he experienced great difficulty in get-ting his melons transported and sold. The railroads were not prepared with suitable cars for their shipment, and there was no ver active demand for them in the northern markets. Failing to get transportation for went to making watermelon syrup. The syrup proved to be very palatable, and Mr. Talley found sale enough for it to pay him out. Soon others began to plant melons, and finally the management of the Savannah, Florida and Western railway, then the Atlantic and Gulf began to make the savannah. the Atlantic and Gulf, began to make preparations for moving the crop. Meantime large arations for moving the crop. Meantime larguantities of melons and other vegetable were being shipped out over the same road from Florida, and now an increase in the market demands in the north and northwest became perceptible. Year after year, a melons from Florida and south Georgia wer introduced in the great cities of the north and northwest as early as the latter part of June and the first part of July, the demand for them increased. Now there seems to be no end to the demand. Last year buyers came out from Louisville, Chicago, Indianapolis and other ci ies and bought the melons from the producers a forth the producers as forther earlier and before the control of the cont ducers as fast as they could load them. So it would seem that these melon growers of south Georgia have created a demand for the Georreceign have created a demand for the Geor-gia watermelon, and that the demand has increased until purchasers come to the fields after them. Ten years ago such a thing as watermelons in June and July had never been seen throughout the whole of Yankee-dom; but henceforth they will be one of the standard luxuries of the season. OVER PRODUCTION.

We have heard it said by some that now since so many were going into melon culture there was danger of over production—that the markets would soon become glutted. This is not the experience of those in southern Georgia who have been engaged in the business for five or six years, and who continue to increase their crops every year. Upon the contrary, those who can speak from experience say that the only trouble lies in the matter of transportation, and that the demand has kept ahead of the facilities for shipping all the time. Until last year the great trouble has been to get the railroads to prepare themselves for moving the crop promptly. The preparations that were made last year resulted from organness for five or six years, and who continue that were made last year resulted from organ ization and co-operation upon the part of melon growers. This year they have a more wisely, and the result will be more satisfactory, we have no doubt. At the Quit-man convention a committee, consisting of one from each county represented, was appointed to visit the managers of the Savannah, Florida and Western railway, the Central railroad and the Southern express company for the purpose of informing them that the demand upon them and their connecting lines for the transportation of melous the coming season will be largely increased, and to ask them to prepare themselves according-ly. Seeing that the melon crop is assuming such proportions, the railroads would of course be in their own light if they were to fail to prepare for its transportation, and to eucourage the new industry in every way possible. We learn that both the Florida Savannah. and and Southwestern railroads have promised to place side tracks wherever they are needed for the accommodation of melon growers along their respective lines, and to make ample preparation for promptly moving the A CASE IN POINT.

So much, in a general way, about "overproduction," the growth of the market, transporwill permit. M. Talley's farm is at Dixie, Brooks county, and, while not abandoning his own, he has been employed by Mr. J. R. Forrester, of this city, to superintend the planting and cultivation of 100 acres in mel-ons for him, on the line of the Southwestern railroad, four miles north of here. In order to condense as much as possible, we shall not observe the usual forms of a newspaper "interview," but will proceed at once to serve the facts stated by Mr. Talley with paragraphic

Mr. Talley is a strong advocate of the water melon, and has experimented with it in more ways than one. He says that watermelon but that they are a good preventive of cholera. He has never lost a hog from cholera since he has been planting meions. After all the marketable meions have been gath-ered, he throws those that are left into heaps, taking pains to break every melon as he casts it into the heap. In a few days they begin to sour and ferment, and the hogs prefer them in this state to any other. Each heap finally becomes a mass of sour mush, and the hogs will continue to eat it as long as their is a piece of rind or a seed left. Melons thrown together this way will furnish all the food necessary for two months or more. In fact, the hogs will not leave them for anyralley says that he is satisfied from experience that it would pay every farmer who raises hogs to plant a few acres in watermelons for them every year. He pas tures his hogs on the remains of his melon crop through the months of August and September, and they get as fat a they can roll. He does not attempt to ac-count, upon any known theory or scientific principle, for the fact that melons are a pr ventive of cholera in hogs, but he says the experience has satisfied him that the same a fact, nevertheless. At one time the bogs of a neighbor of his, separated from his only by a cross fence, nearly all died with the cholera, while his never showed the slightest symptoms of the disease. His hogs were pastured on watermelons, while his neighbor's were not. Finally he gave his neighbor the privilege of hauling as many melous as the waterdee his circle. many melons as he wanted to his sick h and as soon as the melons were given them the deadly havoc of the cholera ceased. Mr. is taking great interest in developing truck farms.

He stated that his read would be amply equipped in time with cars and rolling stock sufficient to move any size crop that might be resilized. That

ARTHUR'S FRAILTY.

SOME SCANDAL ENVELOPING THE WHITE HOUSE.

An Injured Husband Threatens to Lick the Presiden The Lady in the Case—The Basis on Which the Charges Res:—The Gossip of People and Press Regarding the Developments.

Special Dispatch to the Globe-Democrat. WASHINGTON, February 20 .- This city is alive just now with one of the biggest scandals which has ever found its way into publie print. Every drawing room, barroom, hotel and boarding house teems with it now. The name of the president of the United States is involved in the stories, the details of which are unfit for print, and which shock the most callous ear at every repetition. The The name of the president of the United following review of the matter appears in an evening paper, the perusal of which will give a better idea of the nature and extent of the scandal than could be otherwise conveyed:
AN INJURED HUSBAND THREATENS TO LICK THE PRES IDENT.

From Saturday's Pittsburg Leader.

Washington, February 17 .- There has been for some time a good deal of disagreeable gossip of a scandalous nature, in ich the name of the president of the United States has been coupled with that of a distinguished lady. There is no apparent ground for these stories further than can be found in the indiscreet conduct of the lady herself, who is as beautiful as distinguished, nd who has habitually thrown herself in all circles. Mr. Arthur's way, to the scandal of her bus band and the soiling of her own honor. Yes these stories have thickened and grown since last summer until they are in the mouths of every male gossipmonger and on the tongue of every society woman in the capital. It is whispered about to day that the husband of the lady, who has protested in yain against his wife's reckless exposure of her character to these scandalous insinuations and attacks, has gone higher with his com-plaint, and has personally threatened to hold Mr. Arthur accountable. If but a small part of what is talked about is true there is a tempest' brewing in the neighborhood of the white house which will raise the hair of the whole country.

[The foregoing special originally appeared in Saturday morning's Pittsburg Dispatch under the heading, "Storm signals hoisted over the presidential mansion by an irate husband." The dispatch below appeared, so far as we know now, only in the Dispatch.—Ed. Critic.]
THEIR LAST RESORT—STAR ROUTERS CIRCULATE AN

THEIR LAST RESORT—STAR ROUTERS CIRCULATE AN IMPROBABLE STORY ABOUT OUR PRESIDENT.
From Sunday's Pittsburg Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, February 17.—The tollowing story about President Arthur is pretty freely circulated around town to-day? The star route folks, Brady, Dorsey, et al., knowing the desperate straits they are in, put a private detective on the track of the president. They discovered (or dain to) that our three-generate. discovered (or claim to) that on three separate occasions he left the white house alone and met on the corner of Seventeenth street and Pennsylvania avenue, just above, a lady of high social standing, (No one seems to know her name, or if they do it one seems to know her name, or it they do it has been suppressed.) After meeting, they proceeded on foot, and shadowed by the detective, to a well-known, though private house of assignation in the west end. Now the star route people say that unless President, Arthur mitigates or entirely suspends the prosecution against them they will disclose the whole matter. General Arthur is a man like other men, and, doubtless enjoys life. like other men, and doubtless enjoys life, but that he proceeded to a public assignation house on foot is ridiculous. "A."

[Then came correspondence sent to his paper the next day]:

The scandal about the president was eagerly read yesterday morning, upon the arrival of the Pittsburgh paper which contained it. But one opinion was held in regard to the sending of such matter to be published, even if true, and that was condemnation, and that it was an unpatriotic thing to do all admitted. The story was sent to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, the Philadelphia Times and the Pittsburgh Dispatch, the latter of which published it, but the former two papers did not use it. No one believes the story, and it is rumored that the husband of the lady—a high state department official—whose fair name is thus brought into dishonor and ill repute, means to proceed against the pape that has injured him so foully. There is but one opinion among the better class of correspondents here, among whom the gossip has been known for several weeks, and that is that it is a reproach to the profession to deal such material. The subject was the talk of the city all day yesterday, and still con-tinues this morning, and every one unites in condemning the correspondent and paper alike, and express hopes that both sender and publisher may receive punishment. "A."

To this the Critic adds:

TO this the Critic adds:
THE PRESIDENTIAL SCAN. MAG.—THE AIR FULL OF EUMORS—HOWEVER, THERE'S BEEN NO KNOCK-OUT.
It was rumored on the streets last night, and again to-day, that the alleged trouble between President Arthur and the injured husband President Arthur and the injured husband had culminated in an assault upon the president. The rumor, however, could not be traced to any definite source. The president was, as usual, "in" to visitors to day, and did not appear to be, as has been represented by certain special correspondents, in a "sea of trouble." On the contrary, those who saw him say that he was cheerful and in good spirits. Neither the president nor the department official whose name has been mentioned in this connection has a single mark upon his ment official whose name has been mentioned in this connection has a single mark upon his face suggestive of a knock-down, and if they engaged in a fight at all the blows must have been delivered below the belt, which is contrary to the rules of the prize ring, and the battle was therefore declared a draw. There are all sorts of stories going the rounds to-day concerning the president and the aggrieved official. The last story is to the effect that the aggrieved husband has already placed in the hands of Secretary Frelinghuysen his resignation, to take effect immediately.

The correspondent of the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette has furnished another vermercial in which mercial-Gazette has furnished another version of the presidential scandal, in which the whole matter is attributed to the jeal-ousy of certain "leaders in society," who are included in the elegant generalization of "ANCIENT LADIES."

**Special to the Commercial-Gazette.**

Washington, February 18.—Every public man in Washington is pursued by scores of gossips. The higher the position the more these society pests enjoy lying about them. The most absurd rumor is magnified beyond recognition. Having no regard for the truth, and with nothing else to do, these gossips meet daily at different places and manufacture sensations and repeat stale lies so often that they come to believe them. When the social season first opened here many of the leaders in society were greatly put out at the prominence given a young society warm in the series. many of the leaders in society were greatly put out at the prominence given a young society woman, the wife of one of the assistant scretaries. These ancient ladies thought they had been slighted. They could not say enough about the presumption of that "hussy," who was shown so much favor. The jealousy engendered by this social warfare has been the means of circulating malicious stories about this lady. No one has heretofore paid any attention to them, knowing their origin. It remained, however, for the correspondent of a Pittsburg paper to take up the stories and make a sensation out of them. General Arthur's friends are very indignant over them. Although the story published in Pittsburg was sent to several other newspapers in different parts of the country, it was rejected by them. It is scarcely necessary to add that the story has not the slightest foundation in fact.

After reviewing the account published in the dispatch, the correspondent of the New York Times gives his own account as follows.

the dispatch, the correspondent of the New York Times gives his own account, as fol-

The affair is by no means new to Washington, and has been canvassed in gossip circles for some time past, with the result that the lady in question was placed somewhat under the ban of society. It is a serted by some that nothing further than indiscretion can be truthfully charged against this lady, and absolutely nothing against the president, who is nowise at fault. Others say the scandal has its sole foundation in the ambitious desire of the lady in question to "run" the president, and the fact that she has managed to influence him in certain political directions gives color to this view. Parties solicitous to reach the president's ear have not tous to reach the president's ear have not hesitated to seek her services in that behalf; but, whatever she may have desired to accomplish on her own or her family's account, it is not believed she has made her influence a purchasable commodity. It is stated, how-attended alike by the president and the lady's family.

The following additional dispatch was sent out last night by the correspondent of the Baltimore American, and was published in that paper this morning:

A STARTLING RUMOR.

Special Dispatch to the American.

WASHINGTON, February 19.—A Pittsburg paper contains a highly colored account of an alleged disgraceful scandal, in which President Arthur and an official of one of the departments are mentioned as the principal actors. It was rumored in this city to-day actors. It was rumored in this city to-day that this trouble culminated this afternoon in an assault upon the president by the official. Your correspondent has, however, been un-able to trace this rumor to any authentic source. Nevertheless, it has created much comment, and is the topic of conversation in all circles.

Cures thilis and Fever, Dyspepsia, Sick Meadache, Billious Celle, Constipation, Rheamatism, Files, Palpitation of the Heart, Dizziness, Torpid Liver, and Female irregularities. If you do not "feel very well," a single pill stimulates the stomach, restores the appetite, imparts vigor to the system.

DR. TUTT: — Dear Sir: For ten years I have been a martyr to Dyspepsia, Constipation and Files. Last spring your pills were recommended to me; I used them (but with little faith). I am now a well man, have good appetite, digestion perfect, regular stools, piles gone, and I have gained forty pounds solid firsh. They are worth their weightin gold.

SPRINGFIELD, Robertson County, Tenn. November 27th, 1880.

Dr. J. BRADFIELD: Sir: My daughter has been suffering for many years with that dreadful affliction known as "Female Disease," which has cost me many dollars, and, notwithstanding I had the best medical attendance, could not find relief. I have used many other kinds of medicines without any effect. I had just about given her up, was out of heart, but happened in the store of W. W. Eckler sev eral weeks since and he, knowing of my daughter's affliction, persuaded me to buy a bottle of your "FEMALE REGULATOR," She began to improve at once. I was so delighted with its effects that I bought several more bottles. The price-$1.50 per bottle-seeme d to b ery high at first, but now I think it the cheapest preparation on the globe; and, knowing what I do about it, if to-day one of my family was suffering with that awful disease, I would have it if it cost $50 a bottle; this Department: for I can truthfully say it has curedmy daughter sound and well, and my wife and self do most heartily recommend your "FE MALE REGULATOR" to be just what it is recommended to be. Respectfully,

H. D. FEATHERSTON.

THE conviction of the Ashland murderers at Grayson carries with it a lesson. The people, who, a few months since were so anxious to dispose of the matter by lynch law, thus shonoring the efficiency of their own courts have now every reason to rejoice that the matter has found a solution both lawful and

THE stalwart senators threaten to vote against the confirmation of Mr. Dorman B. Eaton as president of the civil service reform He has not been civil and complimentary enough in his writings and public utterances to suit them. He has in fact attacked them early and late. This should bring to Mr. Eaton's support every patriotic senator, and we believe it will operate in that

THE ten democrats who voted for the senate tariff bill were Messrs. Barrow, Bayard, Brown, Camden, Davis of West Virginia, Gorman, Jackson, Jones of Florida, McPherson and Slater. Nineteen democrats voted against the bill, all of whom were from the south, except Mr. Pendleton. Mr. Mitchell, a republican protectionist of Pennsylvania, and Mr. Voorhees, a democratic protectionist of Indiana, voted against the bill.

THE Grocers' Protective association proposes to have an auction sale of old accounts, It is said that some very prominent people will find their old accounts offered. Such a course on the part of the grocers may stimulate some of the slow debtors to either pay up or renew pre iscs to pay. Whether it is really the intentiou to carry out the scheme, or whether it is simply a movement to frighten debtors into paying, remains to be seen.

It has been a long time since a question arose concerning the civil rights law. At DeGive's opera house a particular portion of the gallery is set apart for colored people. Last night a colored man and two women insisted on sitting in a different part of the gallery, and on being ejected by the police expressed a determination to test Mr. DeGive's right to pursue such a course. As the civil rights law has lain dormant so long this case will excite some interest.

THE Thomasville and Carabelle railroad, the building of which has just been authorized by the Florida legislature, is, it is stated, to be built. Florida has granted it 15,000 acres of land per mile. The road is to extend from Thomasville to Tallahassee, and from there to a new town on the Gulf, distant about forty miles. This town is called Carabelle. It is on Crooked river, in the vicinity of Dog island. The proposed road is greatly needed, and few towns have a greater interest in its construction than the jobbing city of At-

LIEUTENANT COMMANDER GORRINGE WOULD not allow Secretary Chandler to impugn his honor and in vindication thereof resigned. He has the controlling influence in a corporation to manage a Philadelphia shipyard, and a contract to build a large iron ship for the Pacific coast trade, twin to one which Roach is building. Mr. Vanderbilt backs Gorringe, and the latter is confident that a new day i dawning for American ship-building. says labor is no higher per unit of efficiency than abroad, but that materials are much

IRON MANUFACTURE COMING SOUTH "One by one," says the Philadelphia Record: "the costly iron works illustrate the doctrine of the survival of the fittest. Twelve years ago the shores of the great northern lakes were dotted with huge mills that turned out immense quantities of iron and sold it at from $45 to $55 a ton. The price of iron fell and the mills on Lake Outario closed; another drop, and the huge plant of the Buffalo iron works fell into idle decay, while farther west and closer to the Superior ore on manufacturers maintained themselves with great difficulty in each succeeding year. Now the Union iron and steel company of Chicago goes under; not necessarily because of bad management nor be drea the trade is unduly depressed, but niner because it has been violating a great rofitably when iron is $40 a ton are now conronted by the cold fact of $20 a ton for iron, and unless their business can be made to con form to it they must close and let their laborers seek similar work elsewhere or devote themselves to other callings. If Chicago and Cleveland desire to retain their iron manufacturing interests, they will surely be compelled to secure a protective tariff against Alabams iron, for President Miller, of the Eureka criminal, but it is urged in behalf of the profron and coal company, in that state, posi- position; 1st, that only four, or, at most, five, tively and publicly declares, according to the ery Advertiser, that iron is made in ma for $10 a ton."

The Louisville Courier-Journal in discuss this subject says: "Southward the star of the iron empire takes its way. Gradually the dominion of Pennsylvania is passing to Tennes see, Kentucky and Alabama. It is only question of time when Chattanooga, Nashville and Birmingham will be centers of great iron industries like Johnstown and Pittsburgh. This movement is retarded by the tariff. The present subsidies enable eastern capitalists to operate expensive furnaces, which one by one ender a lower tariff must be removed to the outh. This is the day long looked for, and every man who has at heart the progress and dvancement of the southern states will support the party which insists on a reduction of the tariff on iron.'

While we have our hand turned to quota tions, let us add what a correspondent of Bradstreet's Journal says of the movement: It is plain that a revolution is going on in the iron adustry of the United States, in the course of which the manufacture must be given up at unfaorable points, owing to the necessity of seeking the point of cheapest production. This point is in the nthern states The people of the south should realize the situa tion and rise to the occasion. It is about as certain as anything in the future can be that the great iron-making industry is to be transferred to the south. The inexorable laws of trade necessitate it; but we shall fail to reap all the benefits we should if, instead of grasping it ourselves, we allow the business to be seized by non-resident capitalists, and its profits to be taken away for investment or bursement elsewhere. Our own native people and those who come amongst us from other section or countries with the view of casting in their fort. unes permanently with us should see to it that the iron ore properties of the south, and the furnaces, foundries, forges, rolling mills, etc., which are t develop them, shall not pass into the hands of non resident owners. Let us not be misunderstood. We do not wish to be exclusive or provincial. We heartily desire to see the capital and business experience of the north employed in the development of the south, but we desire to see this done in such way as to give the benefit of the gains and accumulations to the south, and not that they shall be drained off for the fur ther enrichment and aggrandizement of sections already redundantly rich. We want real, not delu sive development. And we are ready to welcome with open arms all who may come, from whatever quarter of this or other countries, who are able and willing to contribute to this object.

Atlanta cannot compete with Birming ham or Chattanooga in the manufacture of pig iron, but she can reap a share of the benefits of the coming tide by taking the pig iron of Birmingham and Chattanoogs and turning it into the finer forms of the iron trade and even of the finished metal manufactured. Atlanta cannot be the Pitts burg of the south, but she is pretty nicely booked for the place in the south that Philadelphia occupies at the north.

SMALL FARMS.

The great increase in the number of small farms in Georgia, as shown in the census bulletins, which have been issued from time to time, has already formed the subject of comment and congratulation in these colmns. The terrible decrease in the value of farm lands after the war, while it worked great hardships to an already impoverished class, was not an unmixed evil. It gave the whites who had never been land-owners, an opportunity to secure homes and farms, and of this opportunity large numbers availed themselves. Since that period of paralysis and depression, land values have slowly, but steadily advanced, but it is still possible to secure cheap homes in Georgia.

While this is true, there are many landowners who continue to cling to the idea that the old plantation system is the best for the south. They hold large bodies of land, and if they cannot rent to tenants, refuse to sell except at prices that those who are willing to buy are unable to pay. The land-mania is an old southern institution, for which there was some excuse under the system of slavery, but many a family was wrecked it before the war. The Vira planters in the olden time extray in every other direction, were misers so far as their lands were concerned. They had an ambition to be the proprietors of vast estates, and this ambition often defeated itself, for the lands that they acquired were often worthless, entailing an increase of taxes with no corresponding increase of profits.

This desire to hold large tracts of land still manifests itself here and there, but the inevitable tendency in Georgia to-day is in the direction of partition, and this tendency is becoming more marked every year. The old plantation is thing of the past, and it will be sufficient, if, in the march of events, we are enabled to retain the pleasant memories that cluster so thickly around a system that gave us a civilization perfect of its kind. That which was patriarchal in its character must give way and disappear before what is individual, and those who possess large hold ings of lands must surrender at last to the in evitable. The small farmer is pressing to the front. The ambition which covets large areas must be content with a holding small enough for every acre to produce profits. Necessity overrides either sentiment or policy here, and necessity will have its way.

PULK'S PROPOSITION. THE CONSTITUTION'S special dispatch from Nashville, printed in yesterday's paper, alluded briefly to the terms of the settlement proposed by the defaulting treasurer, Polk, and his friends. The amount of Polk's defalcation is placed at $368,000, including $84,000 in United States bonds and coupons. The proposition which he has made to the state is to pay within ten days $100,000 in new issue of the bank of Tennessee and state bonds and coupons amounting to $108,750. Within sixty or ninety days he is to pay $75,000 more n new issue, making in all $283,750. For the balance of the money due the state, Polk is to give his individual obligation, secured by pledge or mortgage of the Mexican mines in such manner as the laws of the two countries require. It is understood that this proposition omes from the bondsmen and friends of of trade. Furnaces which may be run Polk, who expect to realize the sums named partly from assets in hand, partly from the bondsmen that are solvent, and partly from voluntary sources. Our telegram stated that considerable opposition to the proposition had been developed, but the Nashville World is inclined to favor it. Polk is before the courts, and is undergoing the treatment of an ordinary of the sureties on his official bond are solvent, and not more than $50,000 can be colted from this source; 2d, that as to the rest of the assets, out of which the state can hope to realize anything, not more than $50,000 could be secured, making $100,000 that could possibly be raised, part of which would to to pay lawyers' fees and other expenses; 3d, that it is scarcely possible for the state to realize anything from the proposed suits against the banks. The World is disposed to take a purely practical and business view of the matter without altogether losing sight of public policy and morals. By refusing to accept the proposition of Polk's friends, the state, which eeds money, would recover between $50,000, and $100,000. By accepting the proposition, the state receives $175,000 in new issue, and $108,750 in bonds and coupons, with a possa bility of securing the balance.

Tennessee's financial condition is not an enviable one, and it is natural that the ques tion of dollars and cents should in a case of this kind assume considerable importance.

Doctors sometimes study brevity. Of a citizen who leaned close enough to a circular saw to be caught between the buzz and the whirl, one of them remarked that he was a saw-dead man. It is perhaps unnecessary to remark that the doctor's iploma has been taken away.

BERTHS IN THE 48th ath in Cincinnati Enquirer.

The following I understand to be the condition of he contest for officers of the next congress: Randall, John G. Thompson and Atkins have made s coalition to support each other, representing the middle states, the central west and the south the other side are arrayed Carlisle, Clark of Misouri, and Leedom. The two Ohio candidates aspire to be sergeant-at-arms, while Clark and Atkins want to be clerk. The effect of such a coalition is to take the matter of principle out of the speakership contest, and make the organization of the next nouse no true indication of its intentions. Carlisle, in the opinion of some old members, has over one hundred votes tolerably sure, for him; but he has little comparative strength in the coalition lines, not having observed, perhaps, that it was necessary, in order to be a good speaker, to have himself harnessed up with two other memerety running to get a living. Another candidate for clerk who is highly thought of, and is a man of very fine appearance and character, is Edward Martin, at present in co gress from De'aware. His only weakness is that there is no other delegate but himself from his state, and he would therefore come in successful only when the two other competitors, Atkins and Clark, had run each other close without either having a majority.

From the Boston Post. he next nouse no true indication of its intentions From the Boston Post.

Mr. Carlisle is "far ahead" in the race for the speakership of the next house. A careful compuation gives Mr. Carlisle about 115 votes on the first ballot of the caucus, and Mr. Randall between fifty and sixty, with about fourteen scattering. From the New York Tribune William H. Vanderbilt leaned back leisurely in a luxurious arm-chair as he laughed and chatted pleasantly with a Tribune reporter last evening, in regard to the false reports of his serious illness pub-lished yesterday. No sign of chagrin at the stories was made by Mr. Vanderbilt, and he treated them with more of an air of humorous resignation than anything else. There was no trace of recent sickness in the warm color of his face, and when he rose from his chair it was with vigor modified only by ease. His voice was strong and natural, and his yes, more than usually bright, twinkled with musement as he spoke of the determin ossip-mongers to make his health poor. While he talked he carelessly turned in his fingers theater tickets which he had bought for one of the perform ances last evening.

"I am just as well as I ever was," he said with a mile, "and I am not troubled in the least about hese stories. I don't see why I should take the trouble to deny them. If they are contradicted once, in a little while they are sure to be repeated, once, in a little while they are sure to be rereated, and I don't need to go out of my way to disprove them. So long as I am well it does not matter what the newspapers say. These rumors are all started for a purpose; you know what that is as well as I do. Mr. Vanderbilt leaned forward with a laugh aghe said: "Well, if I had one I didn't know of it. I have had no more of a stroke than you had. But paralysis is too serious a disease to joke about. Of course, it might attack anyone, but I never had any stroke that I knew of. "Your relations and inverses with the Canadian Pacific have been recently discussed in railroad circles." suggested the reporter.
"Well, as to my interests in Canadian Pacific I do not consider that a subject of public importance. A good deal has been published about it, and some statements are correct; others are not. But the relations of the Central with the Canadian Pacific are very friendly and harmonious."

In conclusion Mr. Vanderbilt said as he rose: "All In conclusion Mr. Vanderbiltsaid as he rose: "All the stories about my health have nothing in them. Various reasons have been put forward to explain he increasing sterility of the French nation; but after all have been examined, no valid reason can e sustained except the growing indisp the people to have large families; and with the inrease of wealth in the country it is probable that this indisposition will it crease instead of diminishing. Some have asserted that the physical vigor of the Frenchman has decreased, but there is no ground whatever for such an assertion. Density of population has been put forward as another reason; but France is really sparsely populated compared with Belgium, England, Italy, and other countries. If France were as densely populated as England and Wales she would have 72,000,000 inhabitants; while in the most deusely inhabited districts of and Wales she would have 72,000,000 inhabitants; while in the most densely inhabited districts of France, like the Nord and the Pas' de Calais, the populatian really does increase. Wats have no doubt contributed to keep down the population. It has been calculated that the wars of the second empire cost the country 1,267,276 inhabitants. The excess of deaths over births during the Franco-Prussian war amounted to 547,988, and the whole excess of deaths over births was for the five years of war of the second em ire 614,330, to which must be added to make up the loss the number of births lost to the country by the war, and the loss of 1,614,662 French men and women by the cession of Alsace and Lorraine.

special to the Constitution. NEW YORK February 23 .- A careful exami nation has been made of the books and papers of Charles A. St. John, property clerk at the police headquarters, to ascertain the motive for his resignation ton days ago. It is found that a large amount of his cash and bonds are still in the safes in his office, and not the slightest evidence of defalcation or irregularity is so far discoverable. It seems to be certain, however, that Mr. St. John's mind has been affected by the harrassing nature of his duties. He has charge of a large amount of money and valuables, and in cases where he has refused to surrender the property on unsatisfactory proofs of ownership, suit has often been brought against him. Such a suit for $10.000 worth of bonds was recently begun. now returned to the city, and is in care of the physicians.

ARE THE CHILDREN SAFE?

Seeking Lessons from the Wreek of the Recent Dis-

Special to the Constitution. NEW YORK, February 23 .- In all parts of the country the alarm has been taken up from the recent tragedy here. The question of salety in case of fire is no where more im-portant than in crowded schools, where, under the best regulations, lives could not help being lost. In Philadelphia the superinten-dent of schools deciares that in case of fire not one of the forty-nine schools could discharge their pupils in time to avoid casualties. The street in front of the parochial school on East Fourth street, where the terrible disaster occurred, was crowded all day to-day by a sad-faced crowd of women and children. Business in the neighborhood was almost entirely forgotten, and groups of spectators and relatives were assembled discussing the terri-ble visitation and denouncing the "death trap" in which the unfortunate little ones perished.

Deputy Coroner Donlin, in conversation this afternoon, in speaking of the disaster, said: "The children of the school were drilled how to acc in case of fire and frequently false alarms were sent to test them. The method was to call them together, then form them in line, and at a signal to march rapidly down the stairs. This plan, the sisters say, was fol-lowed out, but when the children arrived at the head of the staircase they must have been panic stricken from one crying fire. I examined the balusters, but found them strong. Such an accident would have occurred with even grown persons. The Brooklyn theater disaster a few years ago is an example. People ter a few years ago is an example. People whether young or old, lose their presence of mind on such occasions. "I have not received a single complaint in

"I have not received a single complaint in regard to any of the school buildings of this city," said D. I. Stagg, the superintendent of school buildings. "Experts from all parts of the country have examined them and pronounced them secure. In a few cases iron stairways for the outside of the buildings have been conformed and expected. During the past been ordered and erected. During the past year iron stairways have been placed upon the buildings occupied by schools Nos. 35 33 and 20. Fire escapes, so-33 and 20. Fire escapes, so-called, would be of no use whatever in case of fire, for the children would be too frightened to use them. Hence I conceived the idea of building iron stairs in place of them. The children are drilled in their use, and would be able to make their escape without danger. if necessary." On on the other hand, Mr. Moore, principal of school No. 20, says: "I do not have much confidence in the efficacy of the fire drill as now conducted in many o the public schools. At present my pupils know that the fire drill takes place at five minutes befor twelve on a certain day every week. They are all prepared to act at a moment's notice. They are allowed to put on their wraps before leaving the building. Now, suping a fire alarm should be rung at an up posing a fire alarm should be rung at an un-expected moment, would they be able to keep their presence of mind long enough to reach the street in safety? That is the question. I think the drill should take place at unexpect-ed times, but one great difficulty in the way of doing this is the commotion it would cause in the streets. People would fancy that it was a genuine alarm and would do all sorts of indiscreet things. I have 2,500 children of indiscreet things. I have 2,500 children in this building, 700 of whom are on the top floor. The turning out of so many children into the street in about two minutes might

A HOTEL SUICIDE. A fine looking man about thirty-five years old, registered at the grand hotel, at Thirty first street and Broadway, Tuesday afternoon. He gave his name as E. G. Brown, and was given a room on the fourth floor. He was not again seen alive. At five o'clock yesterday afternoon a clerk noticed gas burning in his room. One of the proprieto's looked through the transom over the door, and saw the man lying dead. He had shot himself in the forehead with a fevolver. He was fully dressed. He had used a small mirror, which he had brought with him, to direct his aim. The body was removed to an undertaking shop in Fourth avenue last night. His real name, which is not Brown, could not be , registered at the grand hotel, at Thirty real name, which is not Brown, could not be ascertained. He was an Englishman, and employed as a clerk by the Municipal Gas company. On Tuesday he obtained leave of absence because his head troubled him. He left on a scrap of paper a note saying: "Make no fuss about this." Another note was added to the contract of th dressed to the company, in which he said he preferred a real to a living death, and requested that $32 in his possession and salary due him might be applied toward his burial. The company took charge of the body and did not give the man's name. His real name is supposed to be George Schubert. He was un-

Commissioner Fink is not in good health. He has asked to be relieved of all responsibil-He has asked to be relieved of all responsibility connected with the passenger department of the "pool" roads. When the trunk line passenger pool was formed about a year ago, it was expected that Mr. Fink would assume charge of all passenger matters. It was not without great persuasion, however, that Mr. Fink was induced to accept the position, when the tunnel line pool was completely organized. In June last he was oftered the position of president of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, with which he had years before been connected, and for some time it was doubtful whether he would not take that position to escape the many cases of his commissionership. He finally concluded to remain as commissioner in the freight depart meut, but he accepted the charge of the passenger de vartment on the understanding that he would he relieved of it as soon as possible. It is understood that Mr. Fink's request will now be grante d as soon as the trunk lines can agree upon his successor.

Mr. Dorman h. Eaton was asked whether or not the report was true that he would decline his appointment as a civil service commissioner. He said that he dad not expressed himself one way or the other to any person sioner. He said that he had not expressed himself one way or the other to any person. He was only slightly acquainted with Mr. Gregory, who had been mominated as one of the commissioners, and not at all with Mr. Thoman, the other nominee. He thought, however, from what he had heard of these however, then they would make good two gentlemen, that they would make good commissioners. A BANK SUSPENSION.

Hatch & Peters Close Out-Salmi Morse Comes Out

New York, February 23.—The banking firm of Hatch & Peters suspended to-day on account of the embezzlement of their cashier and bookkeeper, George W. Tompkins, amounting to $50,000 or more. They had been in business but two years, and the liabilities are small.

The irrepressible Salmi Morse has applied for an injunction to restrain the police from interfering with "a private representation" of his passion play—that is, a dress rehearsal He will not get it. The firm consists of W. B. Hatch and J. W.

Peters. Hatch is a brother of A. S. Hatch, of Fisk & Hatch, but has never been in any way identified with that house. Their original capital was $50,000 which, with other funds amounting to between $75,000 and $100,000, was lost through the defalcation of their confidential clerk about a year ago. This crip-pled them and impaired their credit, owing to which their business has been circum-scribed, and their liabilities, therefore, cannot be very large.

The United States steamer Nipsic arrived at this port from the Mediterranean, having on board Stephen P. Mirzan, who is to serve a life sentence in the Albany penitentiary for the murder of Alexander Dahan. The mur-der was committed in Alexandria. Egypt, early in 1879. Mirzan is 50 years of age, a native of Smyrna, and an American by adop-tion. He came to this country at the age of 23, and engaged in mercantile business in Boston. He served in the army during the rebellion and at the close of the war went to Alexandria. After shooting Dahan, Mirzan surrendered himself at the United States consulate, and United States Minister Horace Maynard at Constantinople was ordered to Alexandria to try the case. Mirzan was found guilty by six jurymen, and was sentenced to be hanged, but R. B. Hayes commuted the sentence to one of imprisonment for life.

A SUIT FOR SLANDER. Suit for slander, in which the damages are laid at $25,000, has been begun by Mrs. Eng-lish against Henry Fleming, who was recently the defendant in the suit of Miss Alice Livingstone for breach of promise of marriage. In his testimony in the breach of promise suit, Fleming charged that Mrs. English's house at Sixth avenue and Thirteenth street, New York, was not respectable, and hence the suit

A MUCH MARRIED WOMAN. Mr. De Vietter's Marriage With Mrs. Reuber Dis-solved. From the New York Times.

Herman Stahl and Lousie Reuber were married in this city in 1856. Soon after their marriage they went to live in Dusseldorf, Germany and remained there together until 1868, when they separated. Stahl returned to this city in 1870, and five years later he obtained a decree of absolute divorce in the supreme court, on proof that after he left Dusseldorf Mrs. Stahl went to live with a man named Blancke as his wife. Soon after the named Blancke as his wife. Soon after the decrée was entered against her the divorced woman came to New York. Prior to her departure from Europe she had met John Willem Adrianus de Vletter, a responsible citizen of Rotterdam, Holland to who she represented herself as Holland, to who she represented herself as the widow of Hermann Stahl, and with whom she entered into an agreement of marriage. De Vietter could not leave Rotterdam to espouse her in this city, so on March 20th, 1877. bouse her in this city, so on March 20th, 1877, he executed a power of attorney authorizing William Margat Pauer, of this city, to carry out the marriage contract and to do all necessary acts to make it binding on the respective parties. William Margat Pauer accordingly, on May 6th, 1877, went before the Rev. Mr. Francis J. Schneider with Dame Louise Reuber and marrial her as middle of the following September she left Rotterdam and returne: to New York, Here she met Frederick Sahlfeld, and on December she met Frederick Sahlfeld, and on December 6, 1877, she was married to him by the Rev. Charles E. Berger, at No. 86 Third avenue.

In November last Meinherr de Vletter, through Lawyer Theodore Von Bremsen, began a suiv in the supreme court this city for the annulment of his marriage with "Dame Louise Reuber" on the ground that she had believe revereevely began to the marriage with "Dame Louise Reuber" on the ground that she had believe revereevely began to the proposed to the second to falsely represented herself to him as the widow of Hermann Stahl; that the decree of divorce against her prohibited her from marrying during Stahl's lifetime, and that she had done him a wrong, not only in marying him in violation of that prohibition, but also in cohabiting with Freeerick Sahlfeld while many persons regarded her as his

but also in cobabiling with Frederick Sahi-field while many persons regarded her as his (de Vletter's) wife. The much-married woman made an answer absolutely denying all the aver-ment of the complaint, but she did not appear personally or present any wit-nesses at the trial of the suit before Referee Hagh I Downelly Lawer Von Bremsen Hugh J. Donnelly. Lawyer Von Bremsen testified that he met the defendant, and she told him that she thought she had a right to testified that he met the defendant, and she told him that she thought she had a right to marry de Vletter because the testimony upon which the divorce was obtained by Sahl was untrue, and that she married Sahlfeld believing that her marriage with de Vletter was null and void because, although she had lived with him for several months, it had not been consummated. Referee Donnelly made a report declaring that the allegations of the complaint were true, that Mrs. Stahl-de Vletter-Sahl feld had violated the prohibition of the supreme court, not only in marrying de Vletter, but also in marrying Saulfeld, and that Herr de Vletter was entitled to have his marriage with her declared null and void from its beginning. The report of the referee was confirmed, and a decree in accordance with it was granted by Judge Donohue in supreme court, chambers, yesterday. The decree declares the marriage to be null and void because it was entered into at a time when Herman Stahl, who had procured a divorce on the ground of the defendant's adultery, was alive.

Mail Robber Indicted. Special to The Constitution. SHREVEPORT, La., February 23.-W. H. H. Halley indicted for mail robbery, was arrested, brought here and placed in jail. The Minden mail stage was robbed on the 28th of July near Fillmore, Bossier paris, by two masked men, one of whom is supposed to be Halley. The other, who has since died, was his accomplice. After robbing the passengers at the point of pistols, they cut the mail pouches and secured thirteen registered packages and escaped. Halley will be tried at the present term of the court.

GORRINGE GOES CUT.

A NAVAL LIEUTENANT-COMMAND-

dier and Commander Garringe-Sharp Wor Between the Two-The Resignation of Gorringe-What Chandler Says.

Washington, February 23.—The correspon dence between Secretary Chandler and Lieutenant-Commander Gerringe is made public In a letter dated February 5th, the secretary asks Gorringe to inform the department whether or not he is engaged in any business outside the naval profession, and it so what, and if he has received or expects to re ceive compensation therefore. Under date of February 7th, Gorringe replies: That he has been and is employed as consulting engineer, and has received and expects to receive com pensation by reason of such employment, and refers to the letter of June 26th to the department, in which he said he would act in such capacity during his furlough, if granted, and if he formed business connections which would interfere in a remote de gree with his duties as an officer, he would promptly tender his resignation, and in reply he had received a letter extending his lough until August 1, 1883. He also informs the secretary that with the exception before noted, he is not under employment by, or obligation to any other in-or obligation to any other in-terest, or in relation thereto, nor has he received nor does he expect to receive any compensation by such employment. The secretary replies, under date of February 10, that the enquiry arose from the suggestion that Gorringe was employed by, or under obligations, or in relation to interests, not American. Assuming that his statement negatives any such employment, the secretary says the reply is satisfactory.

THE WRATHY TAR.

Gorringe, in another letter, dated Febru-Gorringe, in another letter, taked ary 14, says his reply was intended to negative the suggestion, as he was not aware that such a suggestion had been made until he received the secretary's letter. "It has been the custom, as i is the obvious right, of officers of the United States navy to rely implicitly on the department for against suggestions impugning their reputa-tion. I see no reason, and I am confident the department will see no reason, why as a naval officer I should depart from this custom, and surrender this right of naval officers, even so far as to say that any suggestions, which con-veys or was intended to convey, even by innuendo or intimation, that I even expressed purchased opinions in the interest of any employment or obligation. American or not, It is a cowardly and malicious slander upor me, as well as on the service to which I have the bonor to belong." He concludes: "Have I not the right to know who it is that has made this suggestion, and since the official head of the department has officially informed me that such suggestion has been made, have I any such suggestion has been made, have I any alternative than to respectfully and urgently request that the suggestion itself, and all evidence presented to the department in support of it, on which the department based its official action of February 5th and 10th, be communicated to me without delay, and opportunity afforded me of meeting the accusation? The unblemished record of twenty-two years of service in peace and in war entitles me, I think, to that much and in war entitles me, I think, to that protection from the department." The secretary on Februa0y 17th ordered him to proceed to Washington and report to the chief of the bureau of construction, and remain in Washington till further orders. HE THROWS OFF HIS EPAULETTES. On February 21st, Gorringe, in a letter to the president, tenders his resignation, and requesting that the secretary of the navy be requested to inform the president, if any charges are pending against him, and if so, asking for a full investigation. On the same day the secretary sent a note to Gor ringe informing him that his resignation was accepted, to take effect immediately. WHAT SECRETARY CHANDLE: SAYS. Secretary Chandier said to a representative of the associated press to-night, that Lieuten-ant Commander Gorringe's resignation was accepted by the president yesterday. He, the secretary, had little more to say on the sub-William Margat Pauer, of this city, to carry out the marriage contract and to do all necessary acts to make it binding on the respective parties. William Margat Pauer accordingly, on May 6th, 1877, went before the Rev. Mr. Francis J. Schneider with Dame Louise Reuber and married her as the proxy of Meinherr Jan Willem Adrianus de Vletter. The new Dame de Vletter soon had her arrangements for leaving this country completed, and about June 1, 1877, she was welcomed to Rotterdam by Meinherr de Vletter. Life in the slow Dutch city was not consonant with her desires, and about the middle of the following September she left vietter. Life in the slow Dutch city was not the singless to jection as given in some consonant with her desires, and about the middle of the following september she left free ships, as a naval officer, but I did object tree ships, as a havar oncer, but I do object to his doing this in the British employ. The secretary then said that information had previously reached him of the probability that Gorringe was representing British rather than American interests, and he had called upon him to explain his conduct, which was the occasion of the correspondence and of the officer's resignation.

Commander Gorringe said to a representative of the press to night that he had an interview with President Arthur at half-past eleven o'clock this morning. The president said to him that he had not yet received his (Gorring's) letter of resignation, trans-(Gorringe's) letter of resignation, transmitted through the secretary of the navy, and had consequently taken no action with regard to it. He would, how ever, he said, give the subject early attention. Gorringe, under these circumstances does not, he says, recognize the validity of Secretary Chandler's acceptance of the resignation, and therefore awaits the decision of the president. He expects that the resignation will be accepted, and that he will be free to return to New York to-morrow or Monday.

By Telegrapa W YORK, February 23.-Share speculation d to 1 per cent above those at Wednesday's close, the latter for Omaha preferred. During the early trade a further ad rance extending to % per cent took place, but subsequently the market became weak, and shortly be midday recorded a decline of 2 per cent in Pullman Palace Car, 17/8 in Missouri Pacific, and 1/4 to % in the remainder of the list, the latter for Texas Pacific, and Kansas and Texas. Speculation after this became active and the tone of the market buoyant, and prices sold up almost steadily till about 2;20, the advance ranging from 1 to 3 per cent, Northern Pacific, the Omahas, coal stocks, Vanderbilts and Southwesterns all taking part in pward turn. In the late trade there was a re on of 1/2 to 11/2 per cent, led by the Villard stocks, but the market closed firm at a fractional improve ment. Compared with Wednesday's closing prices, e entire list is up from 1/2 to 31/2 per cent, the mahas, and the coal and. Villard stocks leading in his advance. Transactions aggregated 446,000

THE OUTTON MARKET

**SONSTITUTION OFFICE stiants. February 25 18 3
New York—The week has passed off without bringing about any new developments in the coton market. Futures have been dull and generally of a droopy tendency, and prices at the close to day stood several points under the figures of a week ago. The present condition of the market indicates lower prices, but no material change is likely to occur soon. Spots rule steady at 10 3-16. Net receipts, while more than doubling the corresponding week last year, is decreasing in amount.

Net receipts for the week ending te-day 129,509 both to gainst 144,488 bales last week and against 50,415 bales for the corresponding week last year; exports for the week 83,744 bales; same time last year bales; stock 963,057 bales; same time last

A WORD TO OUR READERS

When you read of a medicine that wil cure all diseases, beware of it, for every scientific physician on earth knows how fallacious such statements are. But when you read of a medicine compounded by a regular physician and surgeon of high standing that claims to cure only a certain disease, and furnishes high proof that it does this, you can safely it; it, and with the assurance that it wil cure you. DR. V. R. STONE, late physician and surgeon of the U. S. A., has placed before the public a preparation called which no doubt is the greatest scientific preparation yet discovered for the cure of dyspepsia in all its forms and refers to thousands of indies and gentlemen of the highest respectability that have become of cases pronounced incurable by the best physicians in the country. YORK, February 23 .- Share speculation to 1 per cent above those at Wednesday's close, the latter for Omahi preferred. During the early trade a further advance extending to % per cent took place, but sub sequently the market became weak, and shortly be fore midday recorded a decline of 2 per cent in Pullman Palace Car, 17/8 in Missouri Pacific, and 1/4 to % in the remainder of the list, the latter for Texas Pacific, and Kansas and Texas. Speculation after this became active and the tone of the marke buoyant, and prices sold up almost steadily till about 2;20, the advance ranging from 1 to 3 per cent, Northern Pacific, the Omahas, coal stocks, Vanderbilts and Southwesterns all taking part in upward turn. In the late trade there was a r action of 1/8 to 11/4 per cent, led by the Villard stocks, but the market closed firm at a fractional improve ment. Compared with Wednesday's closing prices

e entire list is up from 1/2 to 31/2 per cent, the mahas and the coal and Villard stocks leading in

A WORD TO OUR READERS

When you read of a medicine that will cure all diseases, beware of it, for every scientific physician on earth knows how fallacious such statements are. But when you read of a medicine compounded by a regular physician and surgeon of high standing that claims to cure only a certain disease, and furnishes high proof that it does this, you can safely try it, and with the assurance that it will cure you. DR. V. R. STONE, late physician and surgeon of the U. S. A., has placed before the public a preparation called

Which no doubt is the greatest scientific preparation yet discovered for the cure of dyspepsia in all its forms and refers to thousands of ladies and gentlemen of the highest respectability that have because of cases pronounced incurable by the bas physicians in the country. AROUND THE CITY.

HUNTING HIS COTTON.—Wednesday night two ales of cotton were stolen from Mr. Thompson, a sames of cotton were stolen from Mr. Thompson, a larmer whose place is near Hampton. The cotton was taken from the shed where it was pressed and was hauled away in a wagon. Mr. Thompson succeeded, he thinks, in tracing the cotton to Atlanta and reached the city last night in quest of the hief.

LOOKING FOR A STOLEN COW .- A Mr. Hanford LOOKING FOR A STOLEN COW.—A Mr. Hanford, who resides at Oxford, Ga., has notified the Atlanta authorities that a couple of fine cows were stolen from him a few nights since, and that he expects the thieves had brought the bovine spoils to Atlanta. An accurate description of the cows has been sent to Atlanta, and a careful watch will be kept for the stolen property, as a good reward has been offered for their recovery.

EN ROUTE TO THE ASYLUM.—A north Georgia sheriff passed through the city yesterday with two linatics. He was en route to Miledgeville where they will be placed in the asylum. One of the sheriff e charges was a young man who seems hopelessly crazy. He talks all the time about religion, and never ceases to preach to an imaginary audience. During his sejourn in the city, and while siting in the coach at the depot, he prached a semon, sung a hymn and prayed. His prayer was an earnest appeal for his friends and audience. The other landle was an old woman who scarcely ever speaks, and she may be cured.

Straning a Mule.—Early yesterday morning when Charley Jefferson a drayman whose home is on Rhodes rtreet, went to his stable to feed his nules he was greatly surprised to find one stall vactor, as the had left the two occupied the night before. Buring yesterday morning Jefferson made a thorough search of the city for his absent quadruped but was unable to find him. This, connected with the fact that the scable door had not been locked, induces Jefferson to believe he has fallen a victim to a thief. The mule was a large gray animal, and was worth $125.

Captain Crim then informed Mr. DeGive had he would arrest the two, but Mr. DeGive said that he did not want them arrested but simply put ent The captain again'asked' Moore to move, but he still refused, saying he would not leave unless arrested, and in that event he would quietly submit. Captain Crim then notified Moore that he would be compelled to make a case against him and his female companions. This in-illigence did not anger them, and they arose and accompanied the officer out of the opera house. At the entrance Mr. DeGive offered to refund the money the three had paid to enter the opera house, but Moore for himself and his companions declined to accept it, saying they would test the right of Mr. DeGive to make rules for his place. Captain Crim did not compel Moore and his party to go to the station house, but served them with copies, and permitted them to leave for their homes which they did in a quiet and orderly manner. At the station house there cases are booked, one against "W. H. AFFER THE LAWLESS.—Inspector Booth reports to Captain John Frey the arrest of a man named John W. Smith, assistant postmaster at Freemont, N. C., on a charge of detaining and opening a letter. The prisoner was held in a bond of $2 000 for his appearance at the next term of court to stand trial. A special dispatch to Captain Frey states that on yesterday Inspectors Long and Booth arrested J. W. Avers, of Rocky Mount, N. C., on a charge of robbing a registered package of $625 money order lands. The accused was held in default of bail for trial at the next term of the United States court in Raleigh.

AFTER A MURDERER.-Mr. Meredith, a South Car-AFTER A MURDERER.—Mr. Meredith, a South Carolina sheriff, passed through Atlanta yesterday en soute to Athens, Ohio, where there is awaiting his arrival a young morderer, who is wanted in Mr. Meredith's state for the offense specified. The crime with which the young man is charged was committed two years ago near Charleston. At a ball in the country, several miles from that city, the pissoner killed a young associate with a knife and fled before his capture could be effected. Since his sight many efforts have been made to capture him, but the reward offered for his arrest was not extend until last week, when he was arrested in Athens, Ohio. BITTEN BY A DOG.—Yesterday morning Sally Martin, at encycar old white child, whose home is on Larkin street, was terribly mangled by a buildog. The child was passing down the street and was met by the dog. She refused to walk around the brute and attempted to kick it from her path. As soon as she struck the dog with her foot he sprang upon her and grabbing her by the shoulder bore her to the ground. The cries of the girl attracted the attention a colored man who was passing by and who came to her relief. After a great deal of pounding the man succeeded in driving the dog away after which he carried the girl to her home. An examination of injuries developed the fact that her shoulder and beek had been terribly lacerated by the brute's teeth. At first it was feared that her injuries might prove fatal but late last night the child was resting easy and her physician says she is now in no danger.

Calhoun, under date of November 15 last, sent the following communication to the board of commissioners:

Honorable Board of County Commissioners—Gentlemen: Inclosed I send you the result of the late elections for fence or stock law in a portion of the militia districts of this county, and disc the act in relation to the same. You will perceive from sections 2 and 3 that it becomes your duty to have erected around said districts substantial fences, etc. As these districts are contiguous to each other, and Campbell county (which has adopted the stock law) and the Chattahoochee river form most of the outer boundary, it wou'd seem that not a great deal of fencing would be required.

Very respectfully.

W. L. Calhoun, Ordinary.

The following are the sections referred to in Ordinary Calhoun's letter:

Sec. 2. Be it further exacted, That whenever any militia district shall adopt the provisions of the stock law, it shall be the duty of the ordinary or such other tribunal as may have jurisdiction over county matters, as s-on as practical after such adoption, to have good and substantial fences erected around the lines of said district, in order to prevent the incursion of stock from other counties or districts, and for this purpose he is empowered to enter upon the land of any person of said district or county, and have fences constructed across any public or private road; provided, that proper gates are established in such public or private roads.

Sec. 2. Be it further enacted, That said ordinary, or such tribunal as may have jurisdiction over county matters, shall be empowered to levy and collect a tax upou the property of said district sufficient to defray the expenses of erecting and maintaining said fences, said taxes to be collected at the same time and in the same manner as other state and county taxes are collected: provided, that whenever any person should prefer to pay the tax required of him by this section in labor or material, he may upon application to said ordinary, or tribunel aforesaid, pay the same "Is it probable that this law will be further extended in this county?" We asked.

"Easily. The Marietta road would have only a we trains, and could easily keep out of the way. he trains of two roads come into the city on ne Central's track and the Georgia Pacific's track, if course the matter would have to be arranged beseen the two roads."
"Could the Marietta trains make the time?"
"There would be no difficulty about that. The server and Rio Grande road which has about two housand miles of narrow guage track in its system hakes twenty miles an hour and three foot mahinety can readily make twenty-five or thirty, over the excellent roadbed and heavy steel rails of he Western and Atlantic road the light trains would run like they were on glass."
"Supose the road should object?"
"Then run across eight miles or so to the Georgia Pacific and come over that way. But then it seems that tams could be made with the state. The road will divelop a spleadid country that should be allowed to dump its produce right into the lap of Atlanta" "What territory does the district cover?"

THE BLACK LIST.

A Scheme of the Retail Grocers of the City to Whoo up the Delinquents.
The retail grocers of Atlanta have started ou with the avowed intention of sending a boom into the camp of their delinquent debtors. Since its organization several months ago the Retail Grocers Protective association has been issuing to its mem bers a printed list of the people who are dubbed eadbeats. This black list is corrected every onth, new names are added and reformers are stricken off. There are one hundred and twentyfour members of the association, and the list of deadbeats numbers several hundred, and embraces colored as well as white people. The list of name ncludes some of the most prominent and respecta ble people in the city, and it would as bie people in the city, and it would astonish the public to know who constitutes the black list of the association. It would seem that the grocers would consider the printing and circulation of this list among one hundred and twenty-four firms a pretty lively piece of business, but it has just developed that they are preparing for shelling the army of delinquents with a new weapon of collectors' warfare. At the last meeting of the association, which was held a few nights ago, it was agreed to have an auction on the first Tuesday night in March, at which accounts which are considered bad will be offered for sale. The public will be duly notified of the auction by an advertisement which it is said will be printed to-morrow and at other times between now and the day of sale. The nooks and corners of the 124 business houses will be ransacked for old accounts, judgments and notes and there is to be a shaking up among the dry bones. The auction which is to be held on Tuesday night week will provoke a considerable amount of anger, and profanity and mortification and realizing that it was a very desperate game to play with the public. A reporter asked a prominent member of the association if it was not a sort of bluff game. The reply was:

"It is not. An auctioneer has been selected and tonish the public to know who constitutes the clation if it was not a sort of bluff game. The reply was:

"It is not. An auctioneer has been selected and the advertisement has been ordered inserted in THE CONSTITUTION Sunday and Sunday week. The sale will occur in the hall over Lowry's bank, and will be a simple sale of accounts notes and judgments. I have about a dozen accounts that have been placed in my hands for sale and they will be offered. My instructions are to sell them if I do not get ten cents aplece for them. The reporters of the press will be invited to the sale and the public will also be there. It will be a regular public sale, just as much so as an auction in any of the auction houses here in the city. It is the intention to publish the list of accounts sold. If an account offered, and there are no bidders, it will be taken down and another will be put up."
"And who is to stand the consequences of this business."

business?"
"The association. It has as good a lawyer as there is in the city and he would not advise us to do a thing that lays us liable. We think that we are acting according to law."
"How do you manage your deadbeat list, as you call it?"

call it?"

"If a man or woman buys a bill of goods of me, and I can't collect the money I simply report the matter to the association and all the members are pledged not to sell that man anything except for cash."

"Do they stand by that?"

"I have never heard of a failure to do so. They all agree to it when they sign the constitution. The association is regularly organized under a charter."

"Are there many beats in Atlanta?"

"Are there many beats in Atlanta?"

"You would be astonished to know the number and the standing of the people who defraud grocery houses. They are generally people who stand well, dress well and are respected in the community. The groceryman alone knows the true inwardness.

of their methods. Some time ago a man got ionmy debt, and I could not collect a cent of the money. Nice man, stood well and all that, but he would not pay. He went off and said I sold short weight, goods were not all right, etc. He bought a bill from another house. I reported him to the association, and the next day his groceryman told him that he could not get any more goods until he had paid up, that he was published in the association's black list. Well, the result was he came around in a hurry, paid up, and I ordered him reinstated, as he had settled the claim. The other day a lady came to me and asked to be allowed to open an account. She had been paying cash, seemed all right, and I promptly told her that it would sell her anything she wanted. She only ordered a small amount that day. That night I went to the meeting of the association, and in the meeting asked if she was good. The answers were written on slips and put in the box, and a dozen said that she would not pay a cent. I cut her off. I may get the two-dollars, or I may not."
"The most common dead beats are women. You find a great many more women than men beating grocerymen. The woman begins by coming into your place. She looks at your goods, praises the appearance of the store, is mighty sweet, and buys a small bill of goods for which she pays cash. In a few days she comes in again. She is as sweet as she was before, buys another bill, pays cash and is gone again. In a few days she comes in again. She has forgotten her pocket-book, and says send the goods to the house and send the bill. The goods are sent, and she is not there. They are left. In a few days she is around and pays the bill. Then she buys as bill lacks a little of having all the money to pay it. An account is opened. She pays well at first. Then she gets behind. First thing you know she is pretty deep in debt and then you quit-seeing her. You send the bill and she is not a home. You keep it up, dun her, and after a series of duns she gets wad. She abuses the goods, says she didn

The debt was promptly paid.

A Compliment to a Young Lady.

Miss Mattie Huff, daughter of Colonel W. A Huff, of the Markham house, has been compil mented by the Macon firemen. They have named a hose reel in honor of her. The Graphic says: The new hose reel and carriage of No. 5 fire company has arrived, and this afternoon about two o'clock was taken up to the store of S S. Parmalee and suboxed and placed on wheels. The rechaive been in an unlisted car at the Macon depot for neally two weeks, and this was only learned yesterday. The apparatus is indeed very handsome and reflects great credit on the workmanship of the builder. The carriage is of the side-bar style painted in carmine, striped and ornamented with gold, green and red, with nickel-plated mountings. A beautiful headlight, with "Defiance No. 5" on the glass, surmounts the front of the carriage, beneath which re suspended two fine nickel-plated bells whose silver tones will lend energy to the gallant boys of No. 5 while on a run. The name of "Mattie" is on the rear tool box of the carriage, which mame it received in honor of the charming daughter of Hon. W. A. Huff. It is built in a light, airy and most substantial manner and finished in the highest style of art. It was built to weigh 440 bounds, at a cost of $550. The reel or jumper is finished in the same handsome style as the carriage, and is supposed to weigh 340 pounds. It cost $100. D flance fire company should feel broud of their handsome fire apparatus.

which has attracted the attention of quite a number of our citizens.

Our public schools are all under excellent management, doing a grand work, and in a most deservedly flourishing condition, but they are already taxed to their utmost capacity. A private school of bigh grade is a necessity. After much consultation a number of gentlemen have determined to hold a meeting where they may discuss the matter fully, and take such steps as they may deem best. The meeting will be held on Saturday next at 1 o'clock, at the office of The ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

As this is a matter in which the entire city is interested, all friends to the enterprise are most earnestly requested and urged to attend. Remember the time and place—Saturday, 1 p.m., February 24th, at the office of The ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

A Noble Act of Hon. John H. James.

The Fifth Baptist church has just received a most generous gift from the Hon. John H. James, Almost exclusively at his own expense, this gentleman built the church structure: and now be has made a free gift of the entire property, ground and building, worth $3,500, to the membership. In view of such a splendid and timely donation, the church desires to express its gratitude in the following resolutions:

Resolved, first, we tender to our beloved Brother James, our most cordial thanks for his noble, Christian gift of our church building and ground; with the prayer that heaven's richest blessings may ever crown him and his.

Resolved, second, that while this act of Brother James is in keeping with his character, and will

Resolved second, that while this act of Brother James is in keeping with his character, and will shed fadeless luvire on his name, we desire to say that such a deed is a lovely and enduring monu-ment of the largeness of heart inspired by the Christian religion and adds new glory to the name, which is above every name, that of the Lord Jesus Christ W. BARLOW, WILSON & CO.'S MINSTREL COMPANY gan their engagement at DeGive's opera house last night, and notwithstanding the inclement weather, the audience was very large. It is but true to say that from the moment the curtain was rung up un til it struck the floor on the last act, it was a regular jubilee of fun. When the various members of the company were not producing roars of laughter. the special artists were interesting the audience. We have not space to devote to each member, and must say the sent mental solos and choruses were very . The concert pieces received much applause. The acrobatic and gymnatic feats of the members of the company were as good, if not better, than has been exhibited here. Fox on his violin, the singing of Reubens, the drolleries and absurdities of Wilson, Schoolcraft and Barlow often "brought down the house." The concluding burlesque was exceedingly pithy and ridiculous. In fact the company is an association of the best minstrel taler pair is an assectation of the best ministrictuals in the country, and their performances certainly excel. The combination won the unstituted applause of the audience. A matinee this afternoon, and a performance to-night, and Barlow. Wilson & Co. have the assurance of a warm greeting from very large audiences, patrons of music and mirth. Quite a number request that there will be a repetition of Messrs. Wood & West's "Skaters and Beginners on Ice," a d the "Burlesque Mascot." In fact the same programme of last night will afford an immense amount of fun for the matinee.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE. Henry Powell was taken in last night by Officer Harris. The charge against Powell is larceny. A few days ago six dollars were stolen from a medical student at his boarding house in this city, and the theft was traced to Powell so it is alleged.

A MURDERER CAPTURED. Three years ago Henry Beavers, a negro man, killed another negro at Talladega, Alabama, and skipped out. Since then he had been at liberty, although a good reward was out for him. Yesterday Captain Crim earned that reward by capturing Beavers at the car shed, in this city. Beavers is now in the calaboose awaiting the arrival of the Alabama officials, who have beer notified of his arrest.
